Residents urged to help with recycling

By FLORENCE MEEKS ANP Staff Writer

The first step to carrying out a citywide recycling program will probably be gaining the cooperation of residents, said Romulus Mayor Beverly McA-

"I think it's a mental process we all have to go through," she said. "That's what the educational process will be.'

The mayor was referring to the first phase of a severalpoint plan for Romulus recycling - education, drop-off re-cycling and individual composting.

What residents will soon realize, the mayor said, is recycling can be inconvenient. Items must be prepared before they are dropped off. And until the material is brought to a drop-off station, it must be stored in the home.

"It will take quite a bit of conscious effort," McAnally said.
To help with the educational process, the city can enlist the services of an environmental specialist recently hired by the Conference of Western Wayne. Romulus is a member of the 17-community consortium. Another valuable tool will be experience, the mayor said. Until residents have delved into recycling, she is recommending the city conduct the program with a drop-off station, possibly at city hall.

The other alternative, curbside pickup, would be a costly process. The city would have to hire a contractor for the service and biodegradable garbage bags would be required. 'It's fairly complicated,'

Summer vacation is officially under way for Romulus students. Children climbed into school buses for the last time this school year June 14. Students at Memman Elementary School are quick to line up to leave school that morning, loaded down with books, school supplies and final classroom projects. Schools throughout the district celebrated the ending school year this week and last by hosting picnics and parties. Some of the schools sponsored brief trips for the students. School board meetings for Romulus Community Schools will continue throughout the summer on the second and fourth Mondays of the month. # Bond issue is considered for new high school

By FLORENCE MEEKS ANP Staff Writer

Under consideration for the election ballot this November is a proposed bond issue to fund a new Romulus high school and technological improvements throughout the district.

Dr. William Bedell, superintendent, said district officials will spend the summer meeting with parents and teachers to discuss the proposed plans.

If the bond issue is approved, the existing junior high school building would be expanded for high school use. A new junior high school building would be constructed nearby along Wick

The new high school building would be a solution to heating and cooling problems in the existing building.

More importantly, Bedell said, it could be equipped for more modern teaching techniques. One option would be shops or labs to train students for modern jobs.

Wiring in the building could be adapted for technological equipment.

A pool is also under consideration.

Goals for a modernized high school tie in with the second part of the bond issue proposal technical improvements throughout the district.

Bedell said he hopes to put anywhere from two to eight computer stations in each classroom.

"There is some evidence that learning can be greatly enhanced if we use computers, VCRs. . . modern technology."

World knowledge continues to expand at an amazing rate,

"American businesses are vited to contribute.

using technology to stay competitive. We're still trying to teach kids like we did in the early 1900s and that's foolish."

Because of increasing property values in Romulus, a bond issue would have little impact on residents' tax bills, Bedell With a 30-year bond issue, he said, the district could borrow up to $35 million without increasing taxes. If the district borrowed $45 million, the millage rate would go up by one mill. District officials plan to meet with a consultant in upcoming months to estimate costs for the proposed projects. By November we need firm figures, but we can refine plans as we go along," Bedell said.

If voters approve the issue, construction could begin by January or February of 1991.

Completion of the projects, however, would require two to three years. As district officials discuss these plans, Bedell said he is hearing some disagreement from teachers, who have spent the last three years trying to negotiate a contract. 'Some of the teachers think we should have a contract before we do this," Bedell said. "These are two separate things. I can't pay them with a bond issue."

Bedell said teacher enthusiasm may grow as plans for the proposed projects develop. 'We're really starting to get excited about this. Whoever helps with this will help determine the structure of our district for the next 45 to 50 years.'

Bedell added high school students this fall will also be in-

Members of the Romulus board of education Monday presented city councilmembers with a contract that would give district representatives control over several types of city investment practices.

Representing the graduating class of 1993, the students focus their suggestions in two areas.

First, they asked the school cafeterias start serving food on recyclable materials like paper or cardboard instead of the Styrofoam used now.

Styrofoam, the students said, is harmful to the environment. It cannot break down safely or be recycled, and it takes up valuable landfill space, they told board members.

Students also asked the school board to consider separating garbage at the high school. A dumpster with compartments for glass, metal and remaining waste could be purchased for approximately

The students said they are willing to help collect money to support the separation project.

Board members on the whole supported the students' ideas but said more research is needed before the district moves forward.

The easiest step would be to request food suppliers to stop providing Styrofoam material, said board member Daniel Board member Sandra Langley suggested investigating a districtwide program. It may be a more inexpensive route, she said. In a resolution, board members agreed to meet with district food service and maintenance staff members to gain their suggestions.

Hi-tech gadgets nab thief

By RANDY FRANK ANP Staff Writer

Michigan State Police and 13 Western Wayne County police departments currently have two crime-fighting tools at their disposal which use "Dick Tracy-like technology" to help them recover stolen automobiles and nab the thief.

At a press conference June 14 at the Canton Township Administration Building, the director of the Michigan State Police Department, Richard Davis, said the new auto theft tracking system, known as Lo-Jack, recently helped investigators from the Western Wayne Auto Theft Unit locate a 1989 Chrysler LeBaron which had been stolen just more than an hour earlier.

Davis said although the vehicle, which belongs to Robert Degan of Detroit, was found abandoned in the city, the thief left several fingerprints.

The prints were entered in the second piece of new autotheft technology - automated fingerprint identification system. This system encodes, searches and matches fingerprints with those kept on file in Using AIFS, Davis said Detroit Police Department staff searched through the more than 730,000 registered sets of fingerprints on computer file and produced a suspect, a 17year-old Detroit man. The suspect was arrested, and is currently being detained by Canton Township Police Department.

Airport may gain new airline

America West Airlines may come to Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport.

Representatives from the company, the 10th largest airline in the nation, have told Director of Airports Richard Jamison they are interested in providing nonstop scheduled service to Detroit from Phoenix and Las Vegas.

Service would be provided aboard a combination of Boeing 737 and 757 aircraft with three or four arrivals per day.

Trees planted at airport

To celebrate Earth Day a group of Northwest Airlines employees and their families planted 1,990 trees at Detroit Metropolitan Airport earlier this spring.

The volunteer group used revenue generated from recycling newspaper to purchase the Austrian Pine seedlings, planted on a small lot at the north end of Metro Airport.

If that parcel becomes needed for development, the seedlings will be replanted.

"We have recycled approximately 50,000 pounds of newspaper collected by Northwest's aircraft cleaning department," said Michael Forsythe, a project coordinator. "For each ton of paper that is manufactured from recycled pulp, 17 trees and three cubic yards of landfill space are saved."

Romulus teacher is hero

Substitute teacher Linda Chudy-Bowman received letters of thanks from district officials recently for applying the Heimloch technique on a choking high school student.

Chudy-Bowman used the rescue procedure last month when a student in her class choked on a pill.

Repairs planned for Mt. Pleasant

Three repair contracts were approved for the Mt. Pleasant school building last week by the Romulus Board of Education.

The building will receive a new roof for $76,593, plus $1.40 per square foot to remove the original material. Next, parking lots and driveways at the building will be paved. The cost is not to exceed $90,000. Finally, a contract for $32,377 was approved to complete an air-conditioning project.

The Mt. Pleasant building houses an alternative high school program.

Funding for each of the repair projects will come from a 1.5mill district maintenance account.

Golf outing is planned

Tickets are on sale for the Romulus Chamber of Commerce Annual Golf Outing.

The event this year will be staged Aug. 30 at the Willow Golf Course.

Donations are $60 per person. Chamber officials are also asking for donations of door prizes and volunteer assistants from non-golfing members.

For more information call the chamber office at 326-4290.

School track to be resurfaced

Members of the Romulus Board of Education last week approved a $9,940 contract to resurface the Romulus Junior High School running track.

That philosophy also applies to the third phase of the city program - composting.

McAnally said she rather see residents tackle composting on their own before the city establishes a centralized site for lawn waste. The city will provide instructions.

The first step to home composting, McAnally said, is fabricating a container for lawn clippings, leaves and similar material. Chicken wire will do. Next, lawn waste is layered used to control odors. Eventually, the layers compact and a mulch escapes from the bottom, a natural fertilizer. "It's fun. Kids get involved with it. I think it's really going to be a nice effort," McAnally

Youth campaign sells physics

By FLORENCE MEEKS ANP Staff Writer

With a poster campaign and video commercial, students at Romulus Senior High School have spent the semester selling a new image of physics.

"It's life's little mysteries -It's the physical world," said Senior Dan Taylor, a participant in the physics promotion.

When the campaign was completed last month, 50 students were signed up for the traditionally small science class. Twenty students took the course this semester.

Instructor Bill Raeck said the movement to draw students toward science is gaining ground. Physics is not an abstract formula to memorize, he said, it is everyday life.

"Physics is all around us, even when you stop your car,"

Next year, Raeck said, the high school for the first time will offer two physics courses. basic and advanced.

Another first, Romulus sent a group of students in April to compete in the national Physics Bowl competition.

Approximately 1,200 schools participated in the 45-minute exam, sponsored by the American Association of Physics Teachers and Metrologic, a manufacturer of bar code scan-

The test was designed to generate interest in science and recognize student scientific achievement. Winners received a Metrologic laser and a workbook of laser experiments.

Junior Dan Wood said the test seemed like a regular third hour to him, but taking it was worth the effort.

"It's really handy in college. It's almost necessary to take physics," he said. "It's how things work.'

Raeck said physics was offered at the high school for the third consecutive time this school year. In previous years, the course was scratched when only a few students enrolled.

During the student publicity campaign, participants designed posters listing the benefits of physics. One sign displayed two pictures of brains with the second brain glowing. It read, "This is your brain. This is your brain on physics." Another design listed the top 10 reasons for signing up for the course, number one being"My mother told me to.'

Now that student interest is on the upswing, Raeck said he wants to see more lab space for physics experiments.

Families sought as hosts

By JEFF HAWKINS ANP Staff Writer

For some, finding a home in another place is slightly more difficult than clicking your heels together three times.

And for exchange students, wanting to come to America to receive an intercultural education, their hopes rely on finding a host family.

Responsible for finding exchange students a home in America is the EF Educational Foundation:

'The exchange students come because they have always dreamed of coming to America," EF Regional Director Meg Holiday said. "It is a great experience for the host families and the students. It is really a great opportunity to be exposed to a different part of the world.'

Before the students are chosen to come to America they must undergo strenuous testing and screening and must have maintained a B-minus average or better to even be considered for the EF program. "The kids are thoroughly screened before we let them into the program," Regional Coordinator Doris Engebretsen said. The foundation is a non-profit exchange organization. The program includes a 10-month stay in the United States. "It is an educational experience for everyone," Engebretsen said. "It's really enlightening for families to get to know people from another country." While the experience could be extraordinary for the families involved, getting started is the biggest obstacle that has to be overcome.

"The program is not for everybody," Engebretsen said. "You have to remember that you are taking a teenager into your home. And no matter what language they speak, they are still teenagers.

But for those families who do decide to join the program, most find that the experience is rewarding and end up participating again.

"Many past host families have shared with me how much they have learned about themselves and their community through a foreign student's eyes," Holiday said. "All the students bring their own spending money and full insurance coverage, families need only to provide room, board and a warm, loving atmosphere

Time is starting to run short, too. For visa purposes in some countries, homes must be found by the end of June, Holiday said.

Those interested in joining the exchange program, call the EF Foundation at 1-800-44-SHARE.

A plea for funding for the African National Congress and continued economic sanctions against the government of South Africa are the surface messages he will

More importantly, however, will be the message under the surface.

Mandela served 27 years in prison - most of those years at hard labor - for a cause in which he believes. His devotion to the cause of blacks rights in South Africa could not be broken, and in the end the white-ruled government could no longer justify his imprisonment.

When Mandela stepped out of that prison, the hopes of 28 million African blacks soared with him. His mission to end their plight had not been completed, but he is now free to lead his people once again.

The government of South Africa is ruled by the wealthy white minority, while the majority of the populations lives in substandard conditions with little opportunity to escape poverty.

Mandela offers to the poor of South Africa a strong shoulder to rely upon. He could very well be the salvation of 28 million blacks.

Mandela's message to us is one of dedication and perseverance.

The message is that all people can live together in peace. In South Africa it can happen. In the United States it can happen. It can happen in Detroit.

It is a cause to which we all must be dedicated.

Local festivals deserve some support

Communities are often identified by the festivals they host each year.

Local festivals and fairs add a special flavor and serve to make residents feel closer and more like a family.

The Belleville Area Strawberry Festival, staged last weekend, is such an event. Organizers should be praised for bringing more than 300,000 people together in a festive atmosphere with few security problems.

Volunteers who work so diligently to make the event a success should take pride in their accomplishments.

Those who take time from busy schedules to visit the festival also deserve a mention. By attending the festival, they are showing support for their community and their neighbors.

The Canton Challenge Fest is also now being recognized as a part of life in Canton Township. A fairly new festival, we can can hope that it will continue to grow.

A long list of summer festivals are slated for the area this year. The Westland festival begins next week, and their will small community affairs to recognize the Fourth of July.

We ask that residents of western Wayne County participate and enjoy them.

Academic freedoms are debated

Academic freedom is a phrase that is frequently brought up in discussions relat-ing to Plymouth-Canton schools. Until coming to Plymouth-Canton, I had only heard the phrase used at the college or university level where students pay out of their own pocket for the courses they choose. Many would conclude that in Plymouth-Canton there is considerable latitude given to teachers as to what and how students are

Although this academic freedom is basically good, if mismanaged it can lead to strife, division, and controversy. Unfortunately, this has been the case in our district, as is evident to even the casual observer.

If we grant teachers academic freedom in the classrooms (we have done), then the least we should expect of them is academic responsibility. The board's recent decision to adopt a warranty diploma program is a step in the right direction. This is an act of accountability to the business community. But teachers, administrators, and board members should also do more to hold themselves accountable to parents, since it is parents that are ultimately responsible for the education their children obtain.

For the past several years in our district, academic freedom has flourished while accountability has declined. Increased emphasis has been placed on social and psychological themes while the rest of the world continues to pull further away from us in terms of what students actually learn. We seem to have fallen for the deception that learning is less important than teaching students to develop generic thinking skills. To aggravate the problem still further a "closed door policy" hinders parents and others from participating in the education process.

Our students are capable of learning more effectively in solid academic courses. I don't think anyone will object to a curriculum including mathematics, natural science, applied science, U.S. history, world history, English, foreign languages, government, and geography. Also, one would find electronics, business, computers, physical fitness, etc.

Standards and expectations must be raised. Why can't Plymouth-Canton be a model for other districts instead of following blindly whatever Lansing is promoting?

Bill does not live up to name

Have you read the bill on the back of the Restore Parents' Rights peitition being promoted by Right To Life Of Michigan? All pro-lifers are being urged to read this bill. They will be surprised and shocked to learn the real facts involved here. The bill restoring parents rights. In fact, the bill closely resembles a child advocacy bill.

Note in Sec. 3 Item 2, which states: "If a parent or the legal guardian is not available or refuses to give his or her consent, or if the minor elects not ot seek consent of a parent or the legal guardian, the minor may petition the probate court pursuant to Sec. 4 for a waiver of the parental consent requirement of this section".

In Sec. 4, Item 3 and 3a, it states, "The probate court shall grant a waiver of parental consent if it finds either of the following: (a) The minor is sufficiently mature and well-enough informed to make the decision regarding abortion independently of the parents or legal guardian'

What 11-year old is sufficiently mature enough to make this decision? Many of them, considering that decision-making has been taught in a multitude of public schools for ages. Will children be afraid to go to probate court? Not hardly. Today's kids have become desensitized to fear through the teachings of many of these schools. How does this bill restore parental rights? It doesn't. The only parent I can see being given rights within this legislation is the pregnant minor through the judicial bypass.

The Dept. of Education as well as school districts have been given an inordinate amount of control within this bill. (See Sec. 9). If this bill becomes a state law, then it would be mandated that 11-year olds would be given abortion procurement information. Natural-has little or nothing to do with ly this would also entail informing the children of pregnancy and sex ed. Naturally.

For approximately one year I was president of Romulus Right To Life, an affiliate of Right To Life Of Michigan. Because of my opposition to the Restore Parents' Rights petition, on May 23, 1990, I resigned my posi-

I also had the bill thoroughly investigated by professional persons involved in the legislature, legal profession, teaching and ministerial fields, all of whom have displayed the same

I would only ask that Right To Life Of Michigan reconsider promoting this petition. Certain things can be compromised on; morality is not one of them. I further urge all pro-lifers to read the bill before considering signing it. Or don't sign.

I am still actively pro-life but in a different capacity. There are many women and babies out there who direly need positive help. The place to start is by telling everyone the "whole truth". No compromise!

In essence, the Restore Parents' Rights petition has inadvertently assaulted the parent'child relationship and is a direct threat to the family unit. This legislation is just another means of state control in the lives of our children.

Mandela's Detroit visit stirs feelings of hope

By TOM MOORADIAN ANP Staff Writer

The winds of political change that toppled the communist governments of Eastern Europe have found there way to South Africa where a white minority government, representing some 5 million whites, controls the fate of some 28 million blacks.

If the storm that hovers over Johannesburg, the capital of South Africa, is to dissipate, one man, Nelson Mandela, holds the key, experts say.

The symbol of black liberation in South Africa, the enemy of apartheid - the policy of strict racial segregation practiced in the Republic of South Africa - Mandela was imprisoned for 27 years by the defenders of apartheid.

He was set free Feb. 11 of this year. He has vowed to fight for racial freedom and the liberation of blacks until his "last breath.

Mandela, presently on a 10day tour of North America, will arrive in Detroit June 28 to bring his message for black rights and a plea for funds to continue the African National Congress' fight for racial equality.

Mandela is scheduled to visit the Rouge Plant and speak in the evening to some 50,000 people at 7:30 p.m. at Tiger Stadium in Detroit.

"I will be there at Tiger Stadium even if I have to walk all the way," said William E. Clark, a past president of the Inkster branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. "Mr. Mandela symbolizes all that is just and right for the people of South Africa

"I can only hope and pray that Mr. Mandela is able to reach his goal and mission in life, and to see justice and freedom come for his people in South Africa.'

Inkster councilman Anderson C. Young said the recent changes in South Africa and the release of Nelson Mandela can only translate as political intendent of Inkster public change long overdue.

"But there is so much more to be accomplished. The work ahead is not going to be easy, believe me. But if there is anyone who is going to be the catalyst of that change it will be Nelson Mandela.

"That man has suffered. The suffering, I believe, has toughened him for the task. Like all great men of history, the pain has helped Mandela to push forward his causes."

Young said that if "we are going to ever strike down apartheid, it must come about through political and not physical resources."

Dr. Edmond Beverly, super-schools, said students of the world look upon Mandela in awe. They see a man who was persecuted because of his beliefs, yet managed to overcome the persecution to fight back for a just cause.

"Students of history and of the Bible know that when a people, a race is unjustly denied their freedom, it is only a matter of time when they will rise up and free themselves.

'No one doubts that Nelson Mandela is the leader of that just cause and of his people,' Dr. Beverly added. "And no one doubts that the blacks in South Africa, in time, will have their freedom thanks to the undying efforts of Nelson Mandela.

Mayor Joseph Davis Jr. of Inkster also looks to history where the name Nelson Mandela will be placed alongside the names of Mahatma Gandhi, whose nonviolent civil disobedience philosophy also led to persecution and imprisonment by the British in India. Gandhi survived to help free India from English rule.

"Why should 28 million blacks in South Africa be ruled by five million whites?" Davis asked. "Where is justice?

"I believe we all truly know, thanks to men like Nelson Mandela, justice and freedom will come to South Africa."

Nankin Transit beats the odds

By PATRICIA BROWN ANP Staff Writer

The Nankin Transit Commission, serving Westland, Garden City, Canton Township, Wayne and Inkster, seems to have pulled itself out of a difficult situa-

"Last year we really went through a tough time with SMART," said Charlie Hunter, director of Nankin Transit.

Nankin is a bus service that provides transportation to doctors and shopping for handicapped and elderly residents.

The service is unique, in that only the five cities included in the area have such a service. Those five cities all have another common link, and that is a large senior citizen population, Hunter said.

Members of the board of directors for the regional transportation system threatened last year to eliminate the contract with Nankin. The five cities involved were so convinced that the service had become an important transportation link for their elderly and handicapped residents that they were willing to support the system financially, Hunter said.

The amount contributed by each city was calculated based upon the population of that community. Because Westland has the largest population of the five communities, it pays the most. Hunter estimated out of the $170,000 contributed by the five communities, Westland pays approximately $65,000.

"We're in real good shape, thanks to the community support we received," Hunter said.

In addition to receiving financial support from the five cities, Nankin Transit also receives money from the state and from SMART, Hunter said.

LIQUID

While Nankin Transit appear to be on line now, community residents seem to be calling out for more mass transit systems. In a recent report prepared by the Heartland Institute, researchers have recommeded a nationwide program be implemented to control the costs of mass transit making the system more competitive and improving the services offered.

Between 1970 and 1985, according to the report, the cost of operating public transit increased 64 percent.

If the cost of public transit continues to increase at a similiar rate, according to the report, to keep the same level of service it will cost more than $25 billion in additional funding.

Hunter believes Nankin Transit will be able to keep costs down for at least two more years. He attributes this to the new vehicles they received this

Don't ask me about Thursday

The reports of my vacation were somewhat premature, and the next person to ask me if I "had a nice time in Chicago" is obviously attempting to provoke me to physical violence against their person.

While the sanity of most of my forebears and many of my present family members is certainly questionable at best, not even one of MY relatives would consider sitting in a crowded airplane, nine seats across each row, for three hours prior to being allowed to take to the sky a good time. Nor would the failure of any air conditioning of any type to operate during this time enhance their enjoyment of the situation.

When a dozen screaming, yelling, yowling, mewling and otherwise entirely inconsolable children of various ages are added to the situation, it becomes even less of a good time. Actually, I don't like children, ask my own, they'll verify my low level of tolerance for the little monsters. So, when these short creatures began to howl and wail on the plane, I merely assumed my reaction was due to my own personal prejudice. Not so. By the second hour of this misadventure, I saw two nuns fighting to control the murderous rage of a priest who was threatening to do great bodily harm to at least one of the sources of the cacophony of misery, suggesting that this flight needed a serious exorcism. I was on his side.

inis was not a good time. I ticularly when the spawn of the devil in the seat behind mine practiced his tap dancing on the back of my seat for the entire duration of this "friendly" flight. It was horrible. Had those nuns not looked so tough, I might have untied ole' Father Damien and had him do his

Finally being allowed to land after circling Detroit Metropolitan Airport for several eternities, my temperate and level husband explained that he had calculated that we could have been home, in our own bed, for an hour, had we chosen to drive and left the airport at the appointed take-off time for this flight.

That didn't help my disposition. And now, my considerate and kind co-workers want to know if I had a good time. Guys, I dragged myself out of bed at 5 a.m. to be at the airport for a flight which was delayed leaving for two hours. I spent all day looking at computer equipment, when not being transported through Chicago traffic by a lunatic. I then sat on a plane with the future members of a Satanic cabal for a complete lifetime, and you ask if I had a nice time.

Yes, it was fine. It was so great that I'm doing it again this week, only this time I'm going to Las Vegas and I'm going to stay for a week.

While I'm gone, here are two really excellent recipes which are guaranteed to improve the disposition of anyone lucky enough to taste them.

"When people come to my house they always say, 'What's for supper'," the Romulus woman said. "I always make sure they eat before they leave."

Justice has five children, grown, but still the center of her life. Almost daily she make meals for them and the friends they bring along. Justice said she wouldn't want it any other.

"Everyone calls me Mom, all my children's friends. My grandchildren call me Nanny...It makes me feel good really to be nice to people."

Of course these days Justice is still in recovery. Her youngest daughter, Kimberly Kaye, recently graduated from high school and married, all within one week.

"I spent three days cooking for the graduation party," Justice said.

She served ribs, pork chops, her famous stove-top baked beans, hamburgers, hot dogs, potato salad and pasta salad.

A native of West Virginia, Justice's meals usually come from southern re-

"I learned a lot of southern dishes on account of my mother, like corn bread and biscuits and gravy." The rest of Justice's cooking skills are self-taught. 'I just learned on my own. My husband was the guinea pig.' Justice said she is proudest of her stove-top baked beans, a recipe she developed purely by experimenta-

"My son's friends are crazy about it," she said. "I start with canned baked beans and just started mixing things in."

For her corn bread and biscuits, traditional staples in Southern meals, Justice relies on buttermilk for moisture. With corn bread, the milk works best with two whole eggs. The batter should be poured into a hot pan, Justice said.

As for dessert, one of her children's favorites is banana pudding. The recipe is simple. Justice simply layers regular banana pudding, banana and vanilla wafers. She tops the layers with crumbled wafers and chills it.

Now that the last of her children is out of school, Justice and her husband, Earl, are already figuring out ways to spend time with them and their three grandchildren.

Justice asked if she could list her children's names - Victoria Patrick, Connie Francis Williams, Earl Justice Jr., Jerry Dale Justice and Kimberly Kaye Mitchell. Each is a fan of their mother's cooking.

"I've passed recipes down to my kids. They say, 'Mom, it doesn't come out like yours does'.'

SEOUL AND HONG KONG -A SHOPPER'S PARADISE!

Think about doing your Christmas shopping a little early this year in combination with a ten-day trip to Seoul and Hong Kong.

We are departing on November 5, for Seoul spending four nights in the capital city of South Korea. During our stay we will tour the city and visit the Korean Folk Village as well as SHOP, SHOP, SHOP!

Korea is the 'copy capital' of the world. In addition to such things as Reeboks (which are made in Korea) and which sell for 1/4 to 1/2 of the prices here and Maggie of London dresses, also made in Korea and which sell for $25 - $30, you can find Benetton sweat suits for $8 to $18; Chanel purses for $50 and up; Rolex watches (Seiko works with 'copycat' cases) for $35 to mention only a few. If you are familiar with Korean fumiture, gorgeous chests of various descriptions can be purchased for just under $100 and the shipping is approximately $250 for a square meter of space (this amount of space will hold several pieces)

From Seoul we fly to Hong Kong for five nights. We'll tour Hong Kong Isand and visit Stanley Market on the sland as well as visiting the Manufacturer's Outlets on Kowloon. Chinese treasures in Hong Kong are superior in quality to those found in China as the 'good stuff' is shipped to Hong Kong. Custom made shoes and clothing are also good buys.

Our tour includes roundtrip air transportation from Detroit; first class hotel accommodations including breakfast, service and tax; sightseeing in each city with lunch and is escorted from Detroit. $2,497 from Detroit, sharing twin. Call for details

Readers to share vacation tales

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER Belleville City Editor

As the vacation season swings into full gear, area families are making plans to revisit favorite sites and to explore new locations.

An informal survey of western Wayne County residents revealed that Florida, Hawaii and the Caribbean islands are popular choices for vacationers. However, one local woman says "yes to Michigan" when she makes her travel plans.

'God knew what he was doing when he created the Upper Peninsula," said Brenda Laginess, of Bentley Galleries, Belleville. "I believe God was practicing when he made all the other beautiful sites, and then really got it right in Michigan.'

For her ideal vacation, Laginess and her family plan to travel along the Upper Peninsula shoreline, visit the picture rocks and view the birch forests.

"I love the beautiful scenery," Laginess said. "The only drawbacks I see are the traffic speed traps.'

Florida is the choice of Toby Leis, owner of C.A.L. Plumbing and Heating, Belleville, who claims to know "all of the people and half of the alligators" in the state.

'I love everything about Florida, especially Orlando. Jefferson Street is my favorite spot, but I'm not saying why,' Leis said. "I can't think of anything negative to say about Florida.

Cathy Richardson, of Van Buren Township, also casts her vote for Florida as a favorite vacation spot. She loves the weather and the tropical plants and flowers. On the minus side, she said, is the humidity.

Debbie Miller, manager of the Belleville branch of Comerica Bank, chooses St. Thomas as her favorite vacation spot. Miller enjoys the sun, sand and beautiful scenery, but doesn't like the scores of peddlers who attempt to sell their wares to the tourists.

Belleville area artist and gallery owner Christine Bentley named Hawaii as her favorite future destination.

'I enjoyed traveling to Europe, and enjoyed the scenery in Germany," Bentley

Vince Sacco ended his high school baseball career at Belleville batting a phenomenal .508. The 6-0, 200pound slugger also contributed five home runs, two triples, eight dou-bles and a team-high 22 RBI for the Tigers, who finished third in the conference. Named to the all-conference team, coaches believe that this dedicated all-around infielder will someday play professional baseball.

Matt Spiecker, one of the driving forces behind a resurrected New Boston High School ball club, was called upon to pitch against some of the toughest teams in the state. He kept the Chiefs respectable. He racked up 46 strikeouts in a 3-6 season and finished with a 3.08 ERA. Named to the all-conference team, Spiecker is a 6-0, 155-pound athlete who completed his third year as a varsity performer on a club his father, William, had the honor to Mike Gentz, blessed with a strong arm that kept opponents from stealing, helped the Tigers at and behind the plate. He batted .305 while chasing home 14 runs. "Mike did an excellent job handling our pitchers this year," noted Belleville coach John Bertz, whose club posted a 12-7-1 record. The 5-10, 165-pound senior also received all-conference acclaim.

Wesley Lawrence was one of the bright spots in an up-and-down year for the Vikings of Inkster. A pitcher who handled the first-base chores when not on the mound, Lawrence averaged 11 strikeouts per game and had a 2.09 earned run average; unfortunately, his teammates failed to get him the runs when they counted. Lawrence also contributed a .298 batting average, which included a pair of homers and nine RBI. He is a 5-7, 155-pound graduat-

Eddie Tank, Romulus' stellar junior, was considered the Eagles' workhorse. He batted .383 for the year and led the team in RBI with 20. He also swatted five doubles. "Tank came through for his team in the clutch," said Coach Don Foley. "He also is one of the toughest competitors on the mound that you can find. Tank tossed a two- and three-hitter and whiffed 45 batters in 42 2/3 innings on the mound.

Steve Honeycutt, a brilliant player on defense, played third flawlessly. He also finished his prep career with a .347 batting average that included a pair of homers, a triple, five doubles and 17 RBI. His .406 batting average in the conference, however, convinced conference coaches that the 5-11, 165-pounder should be in their all-South Central Conference lineup. "Steve gave nothing but his best, and he also expected that of others," noted Coach Don Foley,

Mike Harden is the only sophomore to break into the elite All-area lineup. He brings a .333 batting average to the mythical team. The 5-10, 170-pound outfielder finished with an enviable .394 batting average in the South Central Conference, which raised the eyelids of some of the coaches who realize that the young slugger will be a power to contend with for the next two years. "He definitely will be one of our leaders of the future," remarked Coach Don

The 1990 high school baseball season may not have been a banner year for local teams - none won a conference title - but there were outstanding individual efforts. For example, this year's all-area team has in its lineup 11 players who hit .300 or better. And many of these players will go on to play college ball. Keep your eyes on these pages because next week, the Associated Newspapers' sports staff will announce its 1990 all-area girls' softball team. Jeremy Ison, considered the best athlete in the Tiger lineup this year, and, along with Sacco a repeat Allarea candiate, emerged from the 1990 campaign with a hefty .365 batting average. He is a 3.3 point-average student who will be playing for some college next spring.

senior will make an outstanding college prospect and has several scholarship offers to ponder. He also belted four triples and five doubles that led to 19 RBI. Orr also was the Vikings' captain this season. Ken Blevins, voted Romulus' most valuable player, was co-captain for the Eagles. He hit .368 for the year, and his credentials include three roundtrippers, four doubles and 15 RBI. A 6-1, 185-pound senior first baseman, Blevins is also a three-year

Chris Good led the Chiefs of New Boston Huron in hits. He wound up with a .327 batting average, which included a homer, three doubles and 10 RBI. "He's the team leader," said Coach Bill Spiecker, "his team-mates looked up to him." A two-year varsity letter winner, Good threw out six baserunners who thought they could steal against him.

Rich Evans posted an untarnished 4-0 won-lost record on the mound for the Eagles of Romulus. In that record, the 5-10, 150-pound hurlerinfielder also had a two-hitter and a four-hitter, finishing with a 3.03 ERA. One can only speculate what kind of junior year Rich would have had if he didn't suffer an industrial injury to his right hand (his pitching arm) which required 30 stitches. Evans also batted .267 for the year.

Matt Hamilton won the co-Most Valuable Player honors at New Boston Huron. His contributions to the team are not reflected by his .254 batting average. "Matt is one player who doesn't give up until the final out. He hustles and is the heart and soul of this club," said Coach Bill Spiecker. Hamilton led the Chiefs in RBIS with 13, and the 5-11, 160-pound junior stole six bases. Hamitlon also saw action as a pitcher when he wasn't playing infield.

Bernard Reeves is one of the most coachable players ever to play for Coach Jerome Orr's Vikings. A 5-6, 150-pound junior who has two years of varsity experience behind him, Reeves batted .400 on the year. He also contributed 16 RBI. "I am looking forward to Reeves' return next season when I believe we will have enough holdovers from our team to be considered serious threats in the Suburban Athletic Conference."

Eddie King, an outfielder for the Eagles, brought the curtains down on his prep baseball career with a .304 batting average. He drilled three home runs, a triple, and had five doubles and 16 RBIS for the season. Also used on the mound by Coach Don Foley, King twirled two two-hitters and notched 33 strikeouts in 27 2/3 innings of work. Considered an excellent defensive player, King also served the Eagles as their cocaptain.

Gordon led Spartans to 15 conference track championships

By TOM MOORADIAN ANP Staff Writer

One of the most successful high school track coaches in the area and state has decided

Richard Gordon, who guided the Rockets of John Glenn High School to the 1990 Western Lakes Athletic Association championship and whose teams have won three of the last four WLAA titles, has resigned as head coach.

Gordon also led the Spartans of Cherry Hill to 15 consecutive Tri-River Conference track titles before the school district merged with Wayne-Westland schools in 1987.

"I just felt it was time for me to step aside," Gordon said. "I have many pleasant memories, and I will never forget the close-knit associations that were built over the 24 years I have been coaching.'

Paired with former Cherry Hill coach Joe Grasley, Gordon and the Spartans were unbeatable in the old Tri-River Conference. Together they won seven conference titles, then when Grasley stepped down, Gordon continued the winning tradition. The Spartans captured eight more titles.

In fact, Cherry Hill amassed an incredible 64-dual-meet winning streak before Garden City West and then-coach William Pinnell broke it.

Gordon remembers the day. "I told Bill I was afraid that the end was near. He replied-, 'Brother - 'he always called me that' - don't worry'.''

"Well," Gordon continued, "it went right down to the mile relay, and it happened. They beat us and our streak ended.'

When voters in the Cherry Hill School District decided to merge with neighboring Wayne-Westland in 1986, Gordon was immediately hired as the head coach at John Glenn.

Gordon picked up where he left off. In 1987 his new charges won the conference title then. after finishing a lowly fourth the following year, Gordon secutive WLAA titles in 1989 and 1990.

Gordon stresses that his high school coach and his experience as a high school athlete helped him on the difficult road through life.

"I was not the easiest kid to get along with while in high school," Gordon reminisced. "If it were not for my coach (Bob Parks), I don't know how I would have turned out. He instilled in me some of the values that helped me through life.

And armed with these values, Gordon went on to college where, at Eastern Michigan University, he received a degree in education with majors in history and physical education.

Gordon also teamed with Joe Grasley on the EMU relay. A friendship blossomed that continued after college. The two formed the winning coaching combination later at Cherry came right back and won con- coaches," Gordson said. 'Aside from the coaching, there is also a lot of paper work involved getting ready for a track meet.

"I think pride has been the driving force behind what I have attempted to do in sports and life, and because I am not the type of person to sit back and take it easy, it has been a constant challenge to surface with what we have.'

One of hismost unforgettable seasons was the season of 1983 when his peers - the Michigan Intercollegiate Coaches Association - selected Richard Gordon as their Coach of the Year.

If there is a message that he wants young athletes to remember, Gordon said, it's "that athletics help build character. Win or lose, the athletic field is a place where one learns to compete and helps build body and mind.

"I am going to miss coaching.'

Over the years, Coach Richard Gordon has been able to turn raw high school trackand-field talent into nationallyknown and recognized athletes.

all-conference teams.

Athletic Association titles, has had in his lineups such notables as Michael Michno, Billy Johnson, and Dan Liedel, who have earned All-American.

Michno, of Cherry Hill fame, recently competed in the Pan-Am Games. After graduating and three Western Lakes from Cherry Hill, Michno competed for Hillsdale College and became an All-American there in cross country and track. He went on to the U.S. Air Force where he continued to excel as one of the top milers in the country. He received an invitation to run in the prestigious Pan-Am Games. He's now seeking a berth on the U.S. Olympic team," Gordon said of his former protege.

Johnson was an outstanding cross-country star at Cherry Hill and also won All-American recognition at Hillsdale.

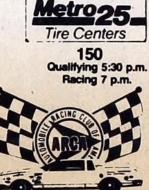

Liedel helped set a 2-mile regional record while at Cherry Hill High School.

Other Cherry Hill athletes who won statewide acclaim for their performances included Steve Sheahan, whose leap of 23 feet, 11 inches, established a record in the broad jump. Then there were all-starters Bubba Zurker, a miler, and Ed Mulrooney, a half-miler.

At Glenn, Gordon coached such outstanding athletes as Carl Lowe, who was a member of the 3,200-relay squad that captured a gold medal at the Midwest Meet of Champions.

Gordon also has had the opportunity to work with "a bunch of great assistant coaches," he said.

The Hank Hughes summer basketball league will begin competition on Saturday, June 23 at the Inkster Recreation Complex on Middlebelt just north of Michigan Avenue.

Among those who will see action on the hardwood during the summer include Alvin "Bo" Dukes, former all-state cager from Inkster High who has gained international recognition as a member of the Switzerland national team in Europe and Michael Aaron, former Robichaud star who is presently a sophomore at the University of Detroit.

Other greats who will be playing are European pro Victor Diehl, Andre Davis, Marvin Hughes and Anthony White.

Hughes said one of the motivating factors for organizing the league was "to have kids have somewhere to go during the summer months."

'School is out and many of the kids will need something to do," he added. "This league will offer them an opportunity to see some of the finest basketball players around. And it's not going to cost them a cent.' Another goal of the league is to invite teams from Europe to come to Inkster and play with local talent, according to league organizers.

Motorcycle safety courses offered locally

By BARBARA GOFFMAN ANP Special Writer

Motorcycles are a better transportation method than cars because they allow the rider to enjoy nature, according to a 65-year-old Westland rider who spent most of his life working as a car mechanic at Ford Motor Co.

"Each time you're on a motorcycle it's refreshing. You smell smells and odors you never do while riding in a car," said Paul Rowland.

Rowland began riding his Harley-Davidson 1000 last year while he was having chemotherapy treatment for lymphatic cancer. He said the motorcycle enabled him to get out of the house and be active each day. It kept up his spirits.

Wayne County Community College is offering several motorcycle courses this summer, designed for novices and experienced riders, in order to allow more people to safely enjoy the same favorable experiences with a motorcyle that Rowland has.

Each class has a $25 fee.

Three classes of Motorcycle afety for Beginners will be offered at the Northwest campus of WCCC, in Detroit, during the month of July. The same course will be offered at the Downriver campus, in Taylor, during the second week of September. The class times range from days to evenings to weekends. The courses run anywhere from 3 to 10 days

The beginners' class lasts 20 hours. Prospective riders must be at least 15-years-old to enroll. Students are provided with motorcycles with engines under 300 cc.

The class divides the students' time between eight hours of in-class instruction and 12 hours of on-the-vehicle, range instruction. Range time takes place in a parking lot on the campus. The range groups are small, generally four students and two instructors each, allowing for individual atten-

For more experienced riders, WCCC is offering an eighthour-long, one-day course focusing upon defensive driving techniques. The class will be offered at the Northwest campus August 19 from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Students are required to provide a motorcycle with a clutch. Scooters do not qualify.

At the start of the class, students take a riding skills test covering the Secretary of State's Motorcycle Skills Test. Any student under 18 years of age who fails the test is prohibited from continuing the Motorcycle Safety Performance-Based class, but the $25 fee will not be refunded.

On Saturday, July 14, an Experienced Rider Course will be offered at the Downriver campus from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Designed for riders of large touring motorcycles and sports motorcycles, the emphasis of the class will be placed on advanced riding skills.

All participants must furnish their own motorcycles and provide proof of cycle endorsement and insurance. The motorcycles also must pass a safety inspection.

Riders in all classes are required to furnish their own helmets, gloves, over-the-ankle boots, heavy-duty pants, jackets and rain gear which can be purchased at many motorcycle dealerships.

Enrollment is limited. Most 40 students. Riders younger high school diploma or a letter of approval from a parent or guardian. No refunds on the $25 class fee will be issued after one week prior to the starting date of each class.

The Secretary of State's Office will waive the State of Michigan Riding Skills Test for students age 18 or older who successfully pass one of these

A schedule of these classes can be obtained by calling WCCC at 496-2777.

The Motorcycle Safety Foundation Program was founded seven years ago. Enrollment has grown steadily, according to program coordinator Patricia Crumpler.

Surprisingly, however, while the number of motorcycle students increased throughout the '80s, the number of motorcycle buyers dropped, especially in the last five years, said Bill Hatherill, sales manager of Motor City Harley Davidson in

Nobody seems to know why sales have been declining. said Hatherill. "There was a boom in sales in the late '60s and early '70s. Sales seem to go in cycles - no pun intended."

Hatherill said that while overall motorcycle sales have been decreasing in recent years, Harley-Davidson sales have increased because the company has been cutting into the Japanese market.

The average motorcycle customer is 35 years old, said Randy Richardson, sales manager of one of those Japanese competitors' local branches: Hon- Box 578, Wayne, Mich., 48184.

da City in Inkster.

Richardson advises firstclasses can accommodate up to time buyers to choose a vehicle structurally suitable for their than 18 need to show either a size and weight. He said the vehicle should be fitted to the rider so that the cc and engine type are neither too large nor too small. Riders whose motorcycles are not fitted properly could hinder vehicle performance, he said.

He also advises prospective buyers to choose a motorcycle with a liquid cooling system. The coolant enables the bike to maintain a proper, cool temperature in hot weather or in a traffic jam.

First-time buyers should be aware that motorcycle costs can range from $1,500 to $3,000. There are entry level motorcycles with cc levels ranging from 50 to 250, but Richardson only recommends these for 16to 18-year-old riders.

John Rowland began motorcycle driving last year, at age 64. He highly recommends motorcycle riding to people of all ages.

Big motorcycles aren't hard to ride, like you'd think they'd be. Once you get going they practically ride themselves," he said.
